

Sinner (Andy Grammer)

Refrain: I've been throwing stones, waiting by the river
I've been on my own, praying like a sinner
You've been gone too long, I'm waiting out the winter
I've been on my knees, praying like, praying like a sinner

Well you've built a city right in me
And brick by brick and piece by piece
And love in both your hands
Try to make an honest man
From when I woke until I went to sleep
You planned my life so carefully
Sculpted me like clay, I can see you in my face
And I never thought I'd live this life without your guiding light

Refrain

And I heard the walls are paper thin
From where you are to where I am
But I don't feel a thing
If you are, keep pulling strings
And send on down a message please
Light a boat, go home my dreams
I'd just like to know
That you hear me, that you're close
And I never thought I'd live this life without your guiding light

Refrain

You've been gone for too long You've been gone for too long
